Company Background: PNC Financial Services Group, Inc. is a diversified financial services company. It is the 6th largest U.S. bank by total assets. The Company provides regional banking, wholesale banking, and asset management services nationally and in the Company’s primary regional markets.

Investment Thesis: We feel as though PNC is a viable long term investment due to its consistent operating history in its five segments and growing long-term projects, including acquisitions, expansion in southeast, and its environmentally friendly business practices. Its 20% ownership stake in BlackRock provides diversification to PNC’s portfolio of services, and makes it unique from its competitors (other regional banks). Given its attractive valuation at this time, we recommend buying $180,000 stake in this company.

Business Segments:

1. Retail Banking: provides deposit, lending, cash management and investment services to more than 6 million customers across 19 states with 2,700 branches, 9000 ATM machines and online and mobile services.

2. Corporate & Institutional Banking: a top Treasury Management provider in the US. Provides lending, treasury management, and capital markets-related products and services to midsized and large corporations, government and not-for-profit entities.

3. Asset Management Group: one of the top 10 bank wealth managers according to Barron’s. Provides investment and retirement planning, customized investment management, private banking, tailored credit solutions, and trust management and administration for individuals and their families.

4. Residential Mortgage Banking: directly originates first lien residential mortgage loans on a nationwide basis. These loans are typically underwritten to government agency and third-party standards.

5. BlackRock (BLK): PNC owns approximately 20% of BlackRock, the world’s largest publicly traded asset management firm.

Competitive Advantage: We feel as though PNC’s main competitive advantage is that it survived and thrived, and fared better than other banks during the mortgage crisis. It was able to acquire companies that fed its expansion.

Compared to wholesale banks, it has low exposure to high yield market and derivative.

Compared to other regional banks, it is well diversified due to its investments in BlackRock and Visa and has a relatively low P/B ratio and Debt ratio. In addition, its mortgage-banking model is differentiated in that it's focused exclusively on higher-margin retail originations, not third-party production channels. This enables its above-average margins per mortgage sold, or gain-on-sale margin.

Risks: The major risks that PNC faces are the monetary policies and statements by the Federal Reserve. Net interest income growth is going to be challenging until rates begin to move up. Further, banks mainly make money from the spread from the interest they receive from loans and fee-based businesses. If loan defaults increase, banks reduction in provision for loan losses will trigger large decreases in net income.
